IN ST. LOUIS PARK

We are stronger together!

"As a peer support officer, I find it important to stress that you do not have to struggle alone. There is always someone out there to listen and help you through tough times. Find that person, and be that person for someone else. We are stronger together!"

Katie Fitzhenry, community and youth outreach officer, St. Louis Park Police Department

Foster growth and brilliance

"In St. Louis Park Public Schools we believe that everyone has the capacity and responsibility to foster the growth and brilliance of others. Sometimes our students and staff have lived experiences that challenge their social emotional well-being and cause them to question their brilliance. It is our collective responsibility to ensure that members of our school community always have access to the support and resources they need to live their brilliance."

Find your purpose

"Turn off the TV, set down your phone and take some time to think about what brings you joy and meaning in your life. Whether it is helping others or a new creative endeavor, finding purpose can enhance your mental well-being. Look for groups or places that can help you achieve that purpose, and take small steps to incorporate activities that support this purpose into your week."

Exercise your mind

"Talent development class serves all students K – 5 at all four elementary schools. As a talent development teacher, I have the opportunity to see kids at their creative best. During talent development class, we focus on all learning subjects. One that I would like to highlight is neuroscience. Students understand how different parts of the brain work together. They are able to label and identify the function of the brain. My favorite quote from a student is: "Mrs. Foudray, my prefrontal cortex is learning so much and it is making my amygdala feel very happy." Teaching and learning has come a long way from just reading and math. It's also about your mind, body and soul."

CARING FOR MIND & BODY IN ST. LOUIS PARK

Ground into your values

"As you wake up in the morning, consider what the day holds for you. Call to mind a value that you can embrace throughout the day that will help serve your community. Embrace the value everywhere you go. Embrace the value with children, adults, family and friends. Embrace the value when it's easy. Embrace the value when it's hard. Notice when it's hard to embrace the value. Offer yourself grace and reflect on the personal work you can do around this value. As we deepen our own personal work around values, it becomes easier to live with intentionality and notice the values we have in common with other people."

IN ST. LOUIS PARK

Enjoy the powers of nature

"Nature has such a fantastic power to heal, relax and rejuvenate. The beauty is, you don't have to venture far to discover these benefits. The ability to simply be present outdoors, even for just a few minutes, can create a space to feel calm and restored."

Empower brilliance

"As educators spending our days with St. Louis Park's amazing young people, we understand that supporting students' social-emotional well-being is central to supporting and empowering their brilliance. With on-site counselors, social workers, mental health professionals and student-centered staff members, St. Louis Park schools are committed to weaving social-emotional growth and learning into students' school day experiences."

Partners in resources

"We are a community that is rich with resources. Our capacity to address the growing needs within our population is directly related to our ability to create awareness and connections. Building these connections continues to be the priority of the St. Louis Park Fire Department's Community Health Alliance. The fire department wants to be an active partner with stakeholders, with a focus on building resiliency and sustainability where the needs are the greatest."

Live your brilliance

"The brilliance of any person is driven by numerous factors, many related to social-emotional wellness. Whether young or old, we are always learners who can deepen skills related to empathy, supportive relationships, healthy identities and the ability to make responsible, caring decisions. As best as you are able, approach situations as a chance to be a learner. For example, step away from the hustle of the day and pay mindful attention to your surroundings, harness the power of your breath to slow down, set aside time to recognize what you are grateful for, and acknowledge and accept the feelings that are showing up in a given moment."

CARING FOR MIND & BODY

IN ST. LOUIS PARK

Support yourself when supporting others

“Workers in support roles (public safety, health care, education, child/elder care) neglect their needs when focusing on others. Taking care of yourself supports your well-being so you can continue to support those who depend on you. Practice self-care during times of stress and adversity. Take care of your body with a healthy diet, sleep and exercise. Connect with friends and family. Most importantly—seek help when YOU need it. Have your own support system and use it.”

CARING FOR MIND & BODY IN ST. LOUIS PARK

Care for emotional wellness

"For any athlete, but specifically for high school student athletes who are often juggling busy schedules and experiencing change in their lives, hydration, proper nutrition and enough sleep are paramount to growth and success in athletics, but none of these factors are as important as an individual's mental and emotional health. We are fortunate through our partnership with TRIA, who provides our athletic training services, that our coaches and athletic department staff have access to professional support on athletic mental and emotional wellness."

How will I know if there's a snow emergency?

The city announces snow emergencies in several different ways.

Use any of the following to find out if a snow emergency has been declared:

- Watch the city website at www.stlouispark.org or visit www.slpsnow.org.
- Visit www.slpsnow.org to sign up for ParkAlert, the city's citizen notification system.
- Download the mystlouispark app for Apple or Android devices. The app will display an alert when a snow emergency is in effect.
- Follow the city's social media sites on Facebook, Instagram and Twitter (@stlouispark), as well as Nextdoor.
- Visit www.stlouispark.org/sign-up to register for GovDelivery email and text notifications for snow emergencies and other events.
- Call 952.230.0743 for updates.
- Watch ParkTV or the local television news stations (Channels 4, 5, 9, 11).

Follow the city's social media sites:
